HOW THINGS LOOK FROM OUR STAND POINT.

There is no end to humbugs. The latest is Dr. Brown—Sequard's Elixir—a new bottled edition of Ponce de Leon's fountain of youth. Its discoverer claims that it will make decrepit old men young and handsome, dispel the wrinkles, gray hair, and wavering step of the grandmother, and restore the bewitching curls, soft downy cheeks and and elastic step of the belle of sixty years since, and prolong life indefinitely. Yes, humbug as it is, yet there are to-day grave and so-called learned doctors who are experimenting upon their patient with this fiery stimulant, the after effects of which must be worse than opium and whiskey combined.

There is a great deal of humbuggery and extravagant waste of money connected with the public printing. Every year there are thousands of expensive books sent out free by the Government that are never read. Ten thousand pages of testimony has just been printed at the people's expense over one contested congressional election. If the law had required even one-tenth of the amount to be paid by the contestant the testimony would never have been printed. The expense in our State printing could also be curtailed. The laws of 1889 are contained in a large volume. The House and Senate Journal are each printed in volumes equally as large, and therefore at treble the necessary expense. The Journals are almost worthless, the laws are all the people want.

The delegates representing the various County Alliances of the State, assembled at Fayetteville last week, were, beyond a doubt, the finest and ablest body of farmers ever convened in the State. President Macune said it was the finest body of farmers he had ever seen anywhere. It far suspassed in intelligence and stamina any legislature we have seen at Raleigh. But this is easily understood when we remember that a county's best men often cannot get nominated or elected to the General Assembly, for the various classes that wish to get special legislation for their own private advantage, fight and defeat, whenever they can, any man who will not be their servant and tool. Not so in selecting delegates to the State Alliance. In this case some of the best men in every community were sent and no power was able to prevent it. Would that all our officers could likewise be selected on merit.

FOR PRESIDENT OF THE AGRICULTURAL AND MECHANICAL COLLEGE.

About the 12th of July the Trustees of the Agricultural and Mechanical College met in Raleigh to elect the officers and professors for that institution. A portion of this work is yet unfinished. The day appointed for the opening of the College is October 3rd, but still it has no President. Have we no men in the State competent to fill the place? If not, then we had better abandon the College for the time for it has not yet come. What are the requisites for a President? As we understand it, he should be a man of wide experience, fine culture, deep learning and high administrative ability. Now THE CAUCASIAN knows such a man. We refer to Rev. J. L. Stewart, of Clinton, N. C., than whom there is no one, within our knowledge, better equipped for the head of our Agricultural College. Mr. Stewart is a graduate and trustee of the University, he is one of the best lawyers in the State, an eminent minister of the gospel and a large and successful farmer,—in fact his whole life has been a success and nothing less than a complete success could our new College be under such a wise, cautious and progressive administration as he would give it.

PRESIDENT MACUNE.

The National President Addresses the Delegates at Fayetteville With Powerful Logic.

[Editorial Correspondence.]

C. W. Macune, President of the Farmers' National Alliance, and editor of the National Economist (Washington, D. C.,) was present during a part of the session of the State Alliance at Fayetteville. He is a young man (about 32 years of age), with dark skin, raven black hair and moustache, of stout build, about 5 feet and 11 inches in height, weighing about 190 pounds, and altogether as handsome a man as one would see in many a day. His massive head, quick eye and frank, open countenance at once impress you that he is a wise statesman and a born leader of men. He did not make a speech, in the common acceptance of the term, but a plain talk, as he styled it, to the brethren. But plain talk as it was, it took a good listener and a thoughtful mind to "take in" the full purport of the deep and powerful logic, the comprehensive and far-reaching arguments in which it abounded. In short, it was one of the most statesman-like and patriotic speeches we have ever heard. We regret that we have not a stenographic report, so must be content to give our readers a few of the leading points.

President Macune started out with the paradoxical statement that the Alliance could never fail and could never succeed. He showed it could not fail by expounding the principles that lie at the foundation of the order, he showed that it could not completely succeed because its ultimate objects and aims were so exalted and elevating that they would forever stand as the Ultima Thule of human progress. He explained the forces that brought the Alliance into existence and the force it, in turn, would exert. He said that organization was the result of material progress, and therefore class organization is an important factor in modern government. This organization is the decree of material progress and the result of dire necessity, and will henceforth be itself the mightiest force in material progress. Yes, it exists and will continue to exist, but nobody knows the precise or ultimate objects of the order, or the means by which these objects will be accomplished. The order stands watching the indications of the times and ready to do whatever humanity needs to be done.

The interests of the farmer should be everybody's interest for upon the success of this class of people depends the success of our government and the healthy growth and progress of the country. Therefore, when it is found at any time that the interests of any class of people conflict with our interest, then the interests of that class are bad and should find no place in our national economy.

The interests of the Railroads do not in theory and should not in fact conflict with our interests and their interests could not conflict with our interests if the officers and managers of these corporations had sense enough to see the true situation. They do us injustice by using discrimination and by charging high rates. They are never forced to cut rates at a terminal point that they do not raise them at intermediate points. This draws from the county and small towns to build up large towns and cities.

[A case in point here is the rates charged the delegates to this very convention. A delegate at Mt. Olive paid $3.75 for a ticket. A delegate at Goldsboro paid $2.40. A delegate living in Fremont rode in his buggy to Goldsboro to buy a ticket rather than pay the difference. The same difference is made in freights. In the face of these facts who dares say that the demand for a commission is not prompted by a sense of common justice. —Ed.]

He next discussed the doctrine of socialism and pointed out the fallacies into which many writes of political economy have fallen.

He next discussed the relative merits and demerits of competition and organization from an economic standpoint and the respective results of these two farces upon the farming class.

CUMBERLAND NEWS.

THE STATE FARMERS' ALLIANCE A FINE BODY OF MEN.

Dr. Haigh Resigned.--Destructive and Incendiary Fires.

[Reg. Cor. CAUCASIAN.]

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Aug. 19th, 1889.

The State Farmers' Alliance adjourned Friday morning at 1 o'clock, after a most interesting convention, lasting three days. C. W. Macune, President of the National Alliance was here and addressed the meeting. The farmers say it was a fine speech and statesmanlike. The convention was a fine looking body of men, and we trust they accomplished much good for our State.

An excursion from here to Norfolk, last Wednesday, carried about four hundred people from this city. They returned on Friday.

An excursion from Greensboro to Wilmington passes through here to-morrow, which promises to be largely patronized from here.

Mr. J. E. Garrett has added to his large printing establishment a book bindery—a long needed want. His business extends over a very large area.

Dr. T. D. Haigh, of this city, has tendered his resignation to Gov. Fowle as a member of the Board of Directors of the North Carolina Insane Asylum. Dr. Haigh found it impossible to attend the meetings of the Board during the trial of Dr. Grissom, and feeling that he could not give the position the proper attention he resigned. Now that the new Board is in favor of ousting Grissom, let it be done at once.

The annual pic-nic at Red Spring always attracts a crowd. Last Saturday the annual of 1889 came off, attended by thousands. A special train left this city at 9 a. m., carrying several hundred people. Everybody enjoys himself at this delightful resort, among the good Scotch.

The wires of the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company were strung on the poles last week. There are eight wires on the poles in this city, though on the main line there are only four, the other wire being the incoming and outgoing wires. The office will be located on the corner of the Hotel La Fayette, in the same part as the postoffice. It is said that rates will be cut considerably. A twenty-five cent message may be sent for fifteen cents. The office will open early in September.

The residence of Capt W. E. Kyle, on Greene Street, was burned Wednesday night at 1 o'clock. Loss $3,500. Insurance $1,500.

The residence of Mr. M. E. Dye, on Ramsay Street, was burned this morning at 5:30 o'clock. Most of the furniture was saved. Loss between $3,000 and $4,000. Insurance $1,500 or $2,000.

Last Tuesday night an incendiary set fire to a warehouse belonging to the Express Steamboat Company. This is the third one burned. Saturday Sam and Alex. Mazingo were arraigned before a Justice of the Peace charged with the burning. Sam was bound over to court and is now in jail. The court refused to bind Alex over, though, in our opinion, the evidence was sufficient to convict, and the court ought to have bound over. Alex is in jail on another charge. They are both bad men and a terror to the people of Campbellton.

Rev. W. B. Oliver, of Durham, preached in the Baptist Church here Sunday. We heard one of his sermons and it was an excellent one. He is a young man and made such a good impression that it is probable that he will receive a call to the pastorate of the church here.

We were glad to greet the handsome and smiling editor, Mr. Marion Butler, last week. He was attending the Alliance and looking after the interests of the ably edited CAUCASIAN. Modesty should not cause this paragraph to be left out, as it tells the simple truth.

Mr. P. M. Wilson, State Immigration Agent, spent several days here last week.

The Centennial Committees are actively at work. Money is being raised quite liberally. Orders have been made for badges and fire-works. Some of the badges will have on them the picture of that noble Southron, President Jefferson Davis.

Rev. J. M. Beasley, aged 74, died at his home in this city last Tuesday, after a ligering illness. He was well known in this section, having conducted a jewelry business since 1815. Rev. Dr. Pritchard, of Wilmington, conducted the funeral services on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Salem Jones, aged 74 years, died last Tuesday. Mr. Jones was sexton of Cross Creek Cemetery for ten or fifteen years.

Miss Maud Guthrie, about 15 years old, died at the home of her father, W. A. Guthrie, Esq., in Durham, last Thursday. Her remains were brought here and burial services held from St. John's Church, on Friday afternoon.

A Union Sunday School picnic at the Camp Grounds, last Wednesday, was one of the most pleasant affairs we have attended. Messrs. Sutton, Shaw, Hodges and the writer, delivered addresses. Many people from town went out.

If there is a town in North Carolina which needs a modern system of water-works, Fayetteville is the town. We have the best and purest water in the world for drinking, but not in sufficient quantities for fires.

FROM CLINTON TO FAYETTEVILLE VIA WILSON.

Last week we took a flying trip to Fayetteville by the "Short Cut" road. We were surprised and distressed at the lamentable appearance of the crops along the line of the W. & W. road from Warsaw to Wilson. Cotton in many places is not more than from six to ten inches high, and corn a spindling stalk, with little or no ear—a mere shadow of what it might have been. If, before seeing for ourself, a reporter of a northern paper had passed down the road through this section and written up the condition of the crops, as they really are, we would have pronounced it a falsehood and a slander to North Carolina. But the crops along the road do not by any means represent the crops of this section, much less of the State. In Sampson there have seldom been better corn crops than will be raised this year, and the cotton will be fair. However, as we pass down the line from Wilson to Fayetteville, the agricultural prospects begin to brighten. At Dunn, where there is a fine soil, the crops are fine, in fact, remind us very much of home. Our friend, Rev. R. A. Johnson, tells us that many of the farmers in that section and further up in Harnett will harvest the finest crops for many years. By the way, this is the first time we have ever been to Dunn and were pleased to find it a much larger, thriftier, and prettier town than we had anticipated. The long rows of new stores and dwellings, tastily dressed with new, neat coats of paint, impress the visitor with the fact that he is in a live, progressive town, the growth of which has just begun, relatively speaking.

The houses are being built faster than the trees can be cut and the debris removed. Well may it be called the "City of the Woods." We were pleased to see Attorney Frank Jones, formerly of Clinton, and Merchant J.E. Underwood, formerly a school-mate of ours, during the few moments the train stopped.

Next we are in the hospitable and historic old city of Fayetteville, where the State Alliance is in session, an outline of the proceedings will be found in another column.

We had the pleasure of shaking hands with the following Sampsonians, most of whom are attending the session of the Alliance, Messrs. T. N. Culbreth, E. Rich, R. M. Crumpler, Braxton Butler, F, M. Royal, James White, Amma Royal, Everett Peterson, William Sessoms, J. R. Butler, Elbert Strickland and Thomas Cooper, also Messrs. E. E. Howell, W. B. Draughon and Charles Butler, and Dr. D. R. Parker, State Lecturer of the Farmers' Alliance, who are natives of this county.

The number of new enterprises started in Fayetteville during the last year entitle it to rank as one of the most progressive and enterprising towns of the State. We would be glad to tell our readers something about these enterprises, and especially of the canning factory, which is using over 7,000 cans per week, with fruit pouring in in abundance, but space forbids and we must close. More anon.

CUPID'S WILES.

A BIT OF COURT-PLASTER AND ITS MEANING.

He Loved a Semi-Ideal Girl Though was About to Marry Another.

"At last, persuaded by his inclinations, he wrote to one of his friends who was pursuing his studies at the Seminary, inviting him to spend Thanksgiving with him. During the visit the court-plaster episode was discussed, but without any results so far as additional information was concerned. The visitor said that no one at the Seminary seemed willing to speak of it, and its cause and purpose were as much a mystery as on the first day of the occurrence. Reluctantly the young man was forced to abandon all idea of discovery in that direction, but still cherished the hope that some day he might meet and know the object of his romantic devotion.

"A few weeks later, a portion of the Seminary building was destroyed by fire. The circumstances were most shocking: several of the young ladies, suffocated by smoke and paralyzed by terror, were unable to escape, and perished in the flames. The school was almost entirely broken up, many of the pupils returning home or going elsewhere. This seemed to the young man to be the final blow to all of his hopes. Whether his little love had been one of the victims was the thought continually in his mind, and he became sad and depressed to such a degree that his friends grew anxious about him and insisted upon some recreation, fearing that he was being overtaxed by business responsibilities. He had never told the story of that well-remembered night. It was one of the sacred things of life that he treasured in his heart of hearts.

"Fifteen years later, a select and fashionable party of summer visitors assembled at one of the well-known watering places. Among the number was Albert West, then one of the most respected and wealthy citizens of the State in which he lived. He had been persuaded to join the party as a sort of guardian to an invalid sister who had been advised by her physician to try the waters for her health. Mr. West was still unmarried, all the efforts of the many charming damsels of his acquaintance having failed to dim the brightness of the first star of love that shone upon his youthful pathway.

"After a week of gayety, the little circle became somewhat fluttered by the announcement that on the following day the party would receive an addition in the person of a fashionable star of the first magnitude. The only information vouchsafed by the two ladies who chaperoned the party, was that the Princess was coming.

"Mr. West arranged for a fishing excursion which should last for some days, he having according to his own account, seen quite enough of fashionable beauties, and having no mind to act the part of satellite to any such dazzling planet. An accident, however, delayed his departure, and he was present when the Princess arrived. Against his will, and in defiance of all his resolves, he was deeply impressed by the fair visitor. He learned that she was the niece and adopted daughter of a gentleman well known in financial and political circles, the heiress to large properties, and had an immense fortune in her own right.

"She had been educated abroad, and had returned home to wed a distant relative of the family. Although it was a marriage of convenience, it was as well-assorted as most unions are, and the couple lived amicably for two years, when the husband met his death in a railroad accident. His wife mourned him sincerely, although she had never appeared to feel any of the enthusiasm of affection for which her intimate acquaintances gave her credit. It was often discussed in the family whether she could have formed any previous attachment; but every suggestion of this sort was promptly negatived by those who knew her best. Now she was a widow, wealthy and beautiful, elegant and accomplished, and possessed of an indefinable charm of gentleness and tenderness that drew all of her intimates to her presence and made her the favorite of every circle where she consented to present herself.

"Before many days had passed, Mr. West was forced to admit to himself that she was by far the most lovable and gracious creature he had ever met; and with some reluctance he gave up the dream of his youth, and resolved to woo and win the Princess if he could. So well his wooing sped, that before the party broke up he had the unspeakable pleasure of announcing to his friends his engagement to the bewitching and aristocratic Mrs. Dallas. The wedding was appointed for the last of October, and the intervening time was fully occupied by the bride in the preparation of a magnificent trousseau, and by Mr. West in fitting up a mansion worthy of his lovely bride.

"The evening before the wedding-day, they sat in the drawing-room of Mrs. Dallas' charming home, when suddenly the stillness of the evening was broken by a clanging of bells and the rattle of wheels, and a fire-engine dashed around the corner close by, stopping in front of a house nearly opposite. Mrs. Dallas rose hastily from her chair and left the room in great agitation.

"I fear she will never get over it,' said one of her friends.

"Over what?' asked Mr. West anxiously.

"The fright she got when the Seminary burned,' was the reply. 'She was at school in Breslau when the girls' dormitory was destroyed by fire. Her room-mate was burned to death, and she barely escaped with her life. She was insensible for hours, from smoke and terror.'

"The Seminary at Breslau! How it all came back to him—that night, and all the hours he had spent in dreaming of the lovely, frightened girl he had held in his arms; and then he had loved this fair unknown even better than he had dreamed. Ah well, it was all given up now, and he would never know. But of course Mrs. Dallas was one of the decorated damsels; might she not know the reason for those bits of court-plasters, and could she not tell him of his lost love? A wild hope rose in his heart, only to be dispelled as the lady who had first spoken told him that she believed Mrs. Dallas entered the classes some time after the term began, and always became so agitated by any mention of dreadful experience there, that they never alluded to it in her presence. For many months they had feared for her reason, and only travel and change of scene and the most untiring watchfulness had restored her to health.

"Mr. West appeared so deeply interested in the place and the terrible occurrence, that one of the gentlemen asked him if he had ever been there; and was greatly surprised to learn he was in the school at the beginning of the term in which the fire occurred.

"After a little general talk about the place and the fire that had almost destroyed the prosperous institution Mr. West found himself quite alone in his corner of the room with one of his most congenial friends. A confidential mood came over him, and turning to his friend he said: 'Charlie, I have a mind to tell you a very curious little story about the few days I passed at that seminary.'

"He then went on to relate the incidents of the well-remembered night, his unavailing efforts to discover who was the fair intruder, and, finally, the deep and abiding affection that grew out of the memory of the one moment during which he held her clasped closely to his heart. 'I tell you, Charlie, I have been the most devoted of lovers, devoted to the memory of a moment; and I some times think, even now, nothing in the world is so dear to me, and that I would exchange everything but life itself for the realization of the dream I have cherished all of these years.'

"'Your "Princess" would scarcely feel flattered by such a statement,' was the reply.

'No, I suppose not; but do not understand that I fail either in love or loyalty to my promised bride. This is quite another sentiment. I sigh for that memory, as a man grieves for his lost youth with all its freshness and strength. Oh, no; there is not a sentiment of disloyalty in my thoughts toward my peerless "Princess." I shall tell her all about it some day: am certain she will under-

DUPLIN NEWS.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE TO CONVENE THE 18TH.

Kenansville's Natural Attractions Draws Visitors in the Summer.

[Reg. Cor. THE CAUCASIAN.]

KENANSVILLE, N. C., August 19, 1889.

The State Institute conducted by Prof. Noble will convene here on Monday, August the 18th. All the teachers in the county are required to attend the Institute or forfeit their certificates.

Died at her home in this place, on the morning of the 12th, Mrs. Caroline Brown. The interment took place at the Rutledge Grave Yard on Wednesday morning. The deceased has been, for many years, a consistent member of the Baptist Church of this place, and has been a long and patient sufferer.

The next session of the Kenansville Male and Female Academy, Prof. W. M. Shaw, principal, will open on the 2nd of September. This school was largely attended last term and the next session bids fair to be the most prosperous in its history.

Why don't our farmers bring samples of their earliest potatoes, largest turnips and finest peaches to town? We might have a regular little "Exhibition" here all the time and let people see what old Duplin and its soil are good for.

The Kenansville Seminary will open on the 2nd of September. This school has been successfully taught for many years by Mr. R. W. Millard, formerly of Sampson county. Mr. Millard is too well known as an excellent citizen and fine teacher to need any comment at our hands.

Mr. S. C. Register, one of our most prosperous farmers, has sold eight barrels of cider this season, which, he tells us, was about ⅛ the product of one acre of apple trees. Why don't our farmers pay more attention to fruit trees? They beat cotton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Badger Brown of Baltimore were in town last week, where they were called by the sad intelligence of the death of Mr. Brown's mother, Mrs. C. Brown.

Miss Maud Broadhurst, who has been spending some weeks with relatives at Mt. Olive, returned home last week.

Mr. John Tolar of Charlotte visited friends in town last week.

Mr. John Roddick, one of the leading merchants of Fayetteville, has been spending some time with friends here.

Our esteemed townsman, Mr. Henry Farrior, left on a business trip to New York last week.

We know a young man whose mind is troubled. He proposed to a young lady the other night and was discarded and told to leave at once, which command he obeyed, and now he can't decide whether he or the young lady "got left," but from our own experience, we would advise him not to say that the young lady was "left," even if he did leave her.

Messrs. McArthur and Southerland, two of our enterprising young men, have opened up a shoe and harness shop at this place. Success to them.

Mr. Willie Bland is spending a few days with his parents, near Wallace, N. C.

The citizens of the county held an indignation meeting here last week and pronounced Dr. Grissom unfit for the position he now holds. We think that the sooner Dr. Grissom resigns the better it will be both for himself and the State.

Mr. J.A. Haywood, of Raleigh, was registered at the Union House.

A BRIEF INTERMISSION.

They were seated in the parlor and he was declaring his love in fervent tones. All at once she stopped him with an imperious gesture and a look of pain overspread her countenance.

"Wait! wait!!" she exclaimed in short, sharp tones.

In a moment the sneeze came, and Heloise, looking tenderly up into his face, said: "As you were saying, George!"—Judge.

On a horse car.—First lady—"Do take that seat. I don't mind standing a bit."

Second lady—"No, you take it. You are older than I." An omninus silence, during which an old gentleman pops into the seat.—Boston Post.

WHAT SHOULD LITTLE CHILDREN LEARN?

BY EMMA C. DOWD.

What should little children learn,
To insure the best return,
In their spring-time early?

How to sing when skies are gray;
How to smooth another's way;
How to smile through bitters tears;
How to hope away all fears;
How to carry bravest heart.

Cheerily through every part;
How to praise a rival's skill;
How to yield to wiser will;
How to keep the temper sweet;
How to wait with patient feet.

How to let a treasure go,
To relieve another's woe;
How to be a little sun,
Shedding light on every one.

To insure the best return,
This should little children learn;
In their spring-time early.

Cut It Off At Once.

"Mamma," said George Waters, one day, as he was reading the Sermon on the Mount, "what does this mean?—If thy right hand offend thee, cut it off, and cast it from thee; for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell.'"

"Well, George, maybe I can help you to understand it by a little story I have read. An English surgeon, Dr. Lake, was sent for one night to see a man who was dying and in great distress. The man told him that about two weeks before, as he was riding near a ball ground, one of the boys struck the ball so hard that it hit his toe with great force.

The toe pained him very much, and he went to see a doctor, who told him that he must have it taken off. The man would not consent to that. So he went on to a city doctor, who told him that he must lose his foot. The man would not agree to this; and so the disease went up to his leg, and at last into his body, and he was dying amidst great distress.

"You see that if this man had allowed his toe to be taken off at first, it would have saved his foot, and his leg—yes, and his life. So if we let one sin—it may seem to us a little sin—stay in the heart, it keeps on working until our hearts are full of sin. The only safe way is to cut off the sin at once, even thought it may be as dear to us as a right hand, or a right eye."

Some Questions for Our Young Friends to Answer.

1. Who invented the cotton gin?
2. Who invented the sewing Machine?
3. Who was President of the Continental Congress in 1776
4. What Vice-President of the U. S. was born in Sampson county?

The present indications are that Congressman Tom Reed, of Maine, will be the next Speaker of the House of Representatives. For some time he and Blaine have been at odds, but they have recently met and buried the hatchet, thereby making his election almost a certainty.

John H. Surratt, a son of Mrs. Surratt who was executed as an accomplice in the assassination of Lincoln, has just had his life insured. In the application blank he wrote opposite the question as to the cause of the death of his mother: "She was murdered by the United States Government."

At the Mt. Holly Farmers' Encaupment, last week, a man undertook a balloon ascension. The result was that his balloon exploded when it had risen about 300 feet and the aeronaut was dashed to death on the ground below. This rash man's untimely end should be a warning to future would-be balloonists.

Harrison's Administration has almost entirely ignored its chief supporter in the South, the negro race. The indignation is great. A meeting to express their sentiments in the matter was held at Charlotte last Saturday. Reports say that the most significant thing about the meeting was the unanimity of applause that greeted the denunciation of Harrison and his administration.

Dr. J. D. Roberts, of Durham, is being prominently spoken of for Superintendent of the Insane Asylum at Raleigh. Dr. Roberts is a native of Mount Olive and a brother-in-law of D. B Nicholson, Esq., of the Clinton Bar. He was superintendent of the Colored Insane Asylum at Goldsboro for several years, and has made a specialty of the study of Insanity for the last six years.

The Weekly Weather Crop Bulletin for the week ending August 17th, says:

The reports of correspondents of the Weekly Crop Bulletin issued by the North Carolina Experiment Station and State Weather Service, co-operating with the United States Signal Service, show that there has been about an average rain-fall, temperature and sunshine. The general effect upon crops has been somewhat favorable, especially cotton, tobacco and corn. Prospects decidedly better than last week's. With favorable seasons it is possible that areavee crops may yet be made. ngFarrs decidedly more hopeful.

In discussing the right of the government to legalize monopolies he said that any business that is per se a monopoly, the government had no right to allow certain individuals to carry on as a private enterprise.

In discussing trusts and corners he said that all trusts were based on the money trust and that an inflexible volume of money was the lever by which speculators made comers on the products of the soil. That it was the imperative duty of the government to see that there was sufficient money in circulation to pay for the various crops of the farmer in the fall. If this were done, a corner would be impossible.

Many other points were discussed but our space is exhausted. In short, he discussed the social, political and financial features of the Alliance, offering no remedies, but dealing entirely with principles, for when once the principles of the order are thoroughly understood the remedy for our ills will naturally follow.

Dr. E. B. Haywood, Capt. Jas. P. Sawyer, Mr. L. J. Haughton and Capt. W. A. Bobbitt have been appointed members of the Board of Public Charities. The Board consists of five members, and one is pet to be appointed.

Dr. F. T. Fuller, the First Assistant Physician at the Insane Asylum at Raleigh, is out in a card, saying that he does not believe in the policy of restraint in such institutions, and that he has not ordered the use of the bed strap in thirty years. He further says that he did not congratulate Dr. Grissom upon his acquittal.

The recently appointed Board of Charities consists of the following named gentlemen: Dr. E. B. Haywood, Capt. James P. Sawyer, Mr. L. J. Haughton, Capt. W. A. Bobbitt and Dr. Charles Duffy, Jr., of New Berne. This Board was created in 1869 and fell into disuse in 1874, but has been revived by Gov. Fowle in appointing the above named gentlemen.

We are indebted to Secretary Jno. M. Rose of the C. F. & Y. V. Railroad for a handsomely illustrated volume of 120 pages, containing a description of the county intersected by that road and the towns and industries along the line. It is well gotten up and contains much interesting and valuable information.

It is a pleasure to us to note that the C. F. & Y. V. system is becoming one of the largest in the state and is developing a section of our country that has never before known the advantages of railroad facilities. It is proposed to extend the road from Mt. Airy, the western limit, to some point on the Louisville and Nasheville road, making it a through line from the west.

Deafness Can't Be Cured

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucus lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucus surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

STATE ALLIANCE.

[Editorial Correspondence.]

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C.

Pursuant to the requirements of our constitution, the State Farmers' Alliance convened in its third annual session here on last Tuesday, the 13th. President S. B. Alexander's speech was wise and to the point. He presented several measures to the body for consideration, all of which were afterwards taken up, discussed and acted upon. A portion of the proceedings of the body is not for publication, but the following we are permitted to publish:

Resolutions demanding a Railroad Commission were unanimously adopted.

The body decided that no bagging was to be used except cotton, unless it was absolutely impossible to get it.

A sufficient sum was placed in the hands of the trade agent to pay a cash per cent. in advance for the cotton bagging ordered.

It was decided that no Alliance is entitled to the full benefits of the Trade Agency unless it has paid as much as $1.00 for each member to the State Trade Agency Fund. While this resolution was under consideration the means for raising the balance of the fund was discussed at length. Ex-Sheriff John A. Oates, the delegate from Sampson, arose and moved that the amounts paid by each county to the fund be read, but he was surprised to find his motion voted down, whereupon he demanded the books of the Trustee for private inspection. Then the cause was found for the note,—there were some counties that had not contributed anything, while many others had contributed only a small amount. That was not all, he found that Sampson county headed the list, having contributed $1,305.60.

It was decided to hold the 4th annual meeting at Asheville.

The following were the officers elected for the ensuing year:

President—Elias Carr, of Edgecombe.
Vice-President—A. H. Hays, of Swain county.
Secretary—L. L. Polk, of Raleigh.
Treasurer—J. D. Allen, of Wake county.
Chaplain—Rev. Scott, of Robeson county.
Door-keeper—W. H. Tomlinson, of Fayetteville.
Assistant Door-Keeper—H. E. King, of Onslow county.
Lecturer—Thos. B. Long, of Buncombe county.
Assistant Lecturer—R. B. Hunter, of Mecklenburg county.
Sergeant-at-Arms—J. S. Holt, of Harnett county.
Trade Agent—W. H. Worth, of Lenoir.
Executive Committee—S. B. Alander, of Mecklenburg; J. S. Johnson, of Rockingham; J. M. Mewborn, of Lenoir.
Delegates to the National Farmers' an Laborers' Union at St. Louis S. B. Alexander and L. L. Pope for the State-at-large; Elias Carr, W. A. Graham, A. J. Dolby and E. A. Moye.

It was an unusually intelligent body of men and transacted business with commendable dispatch.

POPLAR GROVE (NO 616.)

The Alliance pic-nic held at this place last Saturday, under the auspices of four neighboring Lodges, was a very enjoyable and profitable occasion. A bountiful dinner was spread. Mr. J. D. Ezzell, the County Secretary, responded to a call in a forcible and instructive talk. He paid his respects to the trusts and laid great stress upon the fact that we must plant less cotton and make our home supplies before farming could be a success. He said that the progress of the age demanded young men of thought and culture, and that the farmers should see that their sons were equipped for the great intellectual struggle to be fought and won before the farmers' oppressors could be put to route.

LOCALS.

—The Cemetery is being greatly improved and is now becoming a thing of beauty.

—Mr. F. T. Atkins has moved into his elegant new residence.

—The telegram from Fayetteville in last week's issue was an egregious error. See correction in another column.

—The frame work of the large addition to the Murphy House has been put up and the work is being pushed toward completion.

—Have the commissioners rented the speakers' stand in the court-house square for a meat stand?

—THE CAUCASIAN nominates Rev. J. L. Stewart for President of the Agricultural and Mechanical College.

—Mr. J. E. Royal has completed his new brick store and is now having the foundation for two more laid on McKoy Street.

—A Fair Sampson must have this Fall. See the subscription list in another column. Now let the Agricultural Society act immediately.

—This is the proper time to be preparing for next years crop. How? every good farmer knows and does, every poor one should lose no time in learning.

—Mr. B. L. Scott has placed upon our table about 5 lbs of fine bright leaf tobacco raised on his farm in Piney Grove township. This tobacco is prepared ready for use and we can testify that Sampson can raise fine tobacco.

—We noticed in the depot the other day several bales of "Dog Tongue "consigned by different parties in the lower end of the county to New York and elsewhere. The gathering and shipping of this weed has been and is yet a considerable industry in this county.

—The Gastonia Gazette endorses the suggestion that County Poor House be called "County Homes," and gives as its reason that it is a positive punishment to many to be sent to a place called "Poor House." We think the present name the best. No one in absolute need will object to it. The name "Poor House" keeps many a county from supporting unworthy applicants for aid, and prevents no worthy applicants from receiving it.

—A committee of Company A, Sixty-First Regiment, has called a meeting of the surviving Confederate soldiers of this county to meet in Clinton Saturday, September 1st. It is the request of the above committee that as many officers and soldiers as can should meet here on next Saturday, the 24th, for the purpose of arranging a programme for the proposed re-union.

—A new map of the C. F. & Y. V. Railroad system is just out and it puts down the stations on the Wilmington extension as follows: Autry's, Owensville, Parksburg, Ingold, Tomahawk, Kerr's Moore's Creek and River-side. We understand that there is to be a station between Autry's and Fayetteville, and that Owenville has been changed to Roseboro, and Ingold to Sloan.

—Mr. Sherod Barksdale, a man so well known to the people as merchant and large farmer, died at his residence in Clinton on last Saturday the 17th inst. He was a sufferer from Brights disease, but the immediate causes of his death were paralysis and softening of the brain. He was 42 years of age and leaves a widow and five children. The body was interred in Clinton Cemetary with masonic honors on last Sunday morning. There were over 30 masons in lite. Mr. J. M, Marshburn master of lodge and Mr. A. J, Johnson acting as marshal of the occasion.

—We have just had the pleasure of reading a letter from Mr. A, F, Johnson to a friend in town. He is now at Middletown Conn. and will probable return to Clinton about Nov. 1st. His many friends and acquaintances will be delighted to learn that he is gradually improving and will look forward, hoping to greet him, entirely recovered, upon his return. In closing Mr. Johnson says: —I received two "Caucasians" today. Tell Mr. Butler, I was very glad to shake hands with an old friend in THE CAUCASIAN, one knows how to appreciate it when homesick in a foreign land.

—We were partially in error last week in stating that the law required each county to appropriate $100, for the county Institutes. This act refers to the Institutes held by the Co. Supt. annually for both races, but not to the intitutes held by Profs. Noble and Aldermen, one of which was in session here last week. The expense to the county of the institute of last week is as follows:—

Room rent	$8.00
Board for Prof. Noble	5.00
Servant hire	3.75
Contingent expense	1.96
Total	18.71

To the above must be added the salary of the Co. Supt. which was drawn for the days employed. The other expenses of these institutes are paid out of the $4,000 formerly appropriate to the eight normal schools, which were abolished by the act that created these institutes.

LISBON.

Joseph D. Carter is one of our good farmers. He plants no cotton, buys no guano, but raises from 800 to 1,000 bushels of corn and plenty of meat. He is out of debt and always improving his farm. He is over sixty years of age, but I saw him a few days since in a ditch throwing out mud, while two negroes in front were cleaning off the banks. The good farmer is never idle, but always finds something that needs doing.

The revival conducted by Rev. Messrs. Oliver and Sandlin at Lisbon closed the 14th with 10 accession to the church.

Mr. C. T. Lamb is having a handsome residence erected near his fathers.

FRANKLIN.

Mr. Matt Alderman obtained 80 gallons of honey this season from three hives, the best yielding 30 gallons.

I returned from Lisbon last Wednesday. Some 18 or 20 confessions, 10 baptisms.

Our school begins next Monday.

Mr. O. M. Lewis is still improving.

Mr. A. S. Sandlin has securred the services of Mr. F. A. Fennell as salesman.

Mr. Cary Fennell has had fine watermelons this year. One weighed fifty-five pounds.

Have our Commissioners licensed any portable grog-shops for the county?

The corn is thought to be good in this section, and cotton about an average. R. C. S.

PINEY GROVE.

There will be a basket pic-nic at Wright's Meadow to-morrow.

Messrs. Shaw Hines and H. E. Beaman have purchased a new steam boiler from Dewey Bros., Goldsboro, and will start their mill in a few days. They can then serve the public in the way of sawing, grinding and picking cotton.

Mr. Johnnie Weeks has nearly completed his very nice two-story dwelling.

Mr. Wm. Boyette is building a church near Mr. J. O. P. Clifton's, which will be for the use of the Disciples denomination.

Revs. O. P. Meeks, of Warsaw, and F. R. Underwood recently held an interesting meeting at Piney Grove Church. L.

DISMAL.

We notice that the Wilmington Star does not fancy the name of our township (Dismal) and suggests that it be changed at the earliest opportunity. The township was called "Dismal" on account of a large dismal swamp, which lies within its borders, and the name seems quite appropriate to those who know its origin. Any way, the people of old "Dismal" are quite satisfied with her name, and would not change it. "There's nothing in a name."

HONEYCUTTS.

Mr. Arthur Vann is erecting a handsome residence.

TAYLOR'S BRIDGE.

Reddick Sabbath School probably beats the record of all Sabbath schools in the county. This school was organized six years ago last Sunday, and during this time it has never postponed. Mr. M. J. Rivenbark, who has been the superintendent during all this time has never failed to be present. Mr. L. T. Kennedy, who is the oldest male member, and Mrs. A. E. Knowles, the oldest female member, are present nearly every Sunday, bringing the children and studying with them in the classes.

LITTLE COHARIE.

Mr. J. M. Sessoms has a field of corn that averages 7,536 hills to the acre, and 100 years to the bushel will make therefore 75 bushels to the acre. Many of the stalks have two good ears and the field will probable average near a hundred bushels to the acre.

Miss Georgia Parker of White Oak, Bladen Co., is visiting relatives in this section.

The farmers of this section are hard down at work pulling fodder.

Married, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Thos. Bledsoe, on the 16th inst., Mr. Ben Sessoms and Miss Hatty Bledsoe.

Mr. R. M. Royal is adding to his saw and grist mill, a cotton gin, which will be ready for this season's cotton.

Miss Lizzie Draughon of Clinton has taken a school near Mr. Clarence Howard's.

A colored man whose is unknown to this writer was ditching for Mr. Nathan Bullard last week and was foud dead at the place of his work on the 13th. He came from Pender county and the cause of his death is unknown.

We are very sorry that some one in THE CAUCASIAN of July 25th so badly misrepresented the party of young men from a neighboring county, who attended a picnic and church in this vicinity some weeks ago. We feel it our duty to make the correction and leave it to the good people of this community to say whether they acted badly.

PLUG.

Mr. W. L. White, wife and little daughter are down with typhoid fever. Mr. White is improving, but his wife and child are both very low. Mr. Lofton Hall who lives on the same place is also down with fever.

MINGO.

Mingo farmers are diving deep into their fodder fields.

The meeting at Spring Branch closed last Sunday with nineteen converts. Rev. J. A. Campbell and Levi Bryant conducted the meeting.

The school at Mingo stopped one week for the Institute at Clinton.

NORTH CLINTON.

On the 13th instant Mr. Lewis Moore lost his little daughter Berta, aged six years, by diphteria. On last Sunday his oldest son Wentworth died with the same disease. We extend our sympathises to the bereaved father and mother. Can the doctors discover no cure for this at present almost surely fatal disease?

SOUTH CLINTON.

Miss Mamie Killett is visiting her uncles, Messrs. M. M. and Julian Killett.

An Egregious Error.

When we returned from Fayetteville last week we were mortified beyond expression to find our telegram from Fayetteville so terribly botched as to put us in a most compromising situation before our readers. We immediately wrote our Fayetteville correspondent, the talented young attorney, H. L. Cook, Esq., to go to the telegraph office and secure the copy of our message, filed in that office, and have the operator to certify that it was the correct copy we handed him. This he did, and the following is the telegram, with the certification attached:

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Aug. 14, 1889.
To Clinton Caucasian, Clinton, N. C:
Eighty-one delegates present. Elias Carr elected President. National President Macune is now addressing the body.
MARION BUTLER.

I certify this is a true copy of message filed in this office and sent to Wilson, N. C.
M. E. COLLIER,
Manager W. Tel. Line.
Fayetteville, N, C., Aug. 16, 1889.

The mistake was probably made by the operator at Warsaw in transmitting the message over the Clinton line.

SAMPSON FAIR!

$200 Subscribed by the Citizens to Put the Buildings in Repair.

At a meeting of the surviving life members of the Sampson Agricultural Association, it was decided to hold a County Fair this fall if the citizens of Clinton would subscribe $200.to cover the necessary expenses for repairing buildings and grounds. This amount has been subscribed as follows:

W. A. Johnson,	$20 00
F. F. Johnson & Co.,	20 00
M. Hanstein,	20 00
Murphy House,	15 00
J. H. Robinson,	10 00
R. C. Holmes,	10 00
Watson & Peterson,	10 00
W. H. Russell & Co.,	10 00
The Caucasian $25 in printing.
Mrs. Mary E. Peterson,	1 00
Moore & Partrick,	10 00
C. Partrick, (in lumber)	10 00
W. E. Bass,	5 00
Matthis & Bizzell,	5 00
T. H. Partrick & Bro.,	5 00
M. E. Hobbs & Bro.,	4 00
J. A. Ferrell,	5 00
R. J. Williams,	5 00
J. S. Bizzell,	5 00
O. F. Herring,	2 00
G. T. Rawls,	2 00
C. P. Johnson,	1 00
H. B. Giddens,	1 00
W. G. Rackley,	5 00
W. H. Stetson,	1 00
B. F. Powell,	1 00
T. M. Ferrell,	2 50
Isaac Beatty, (colored)	5 00
J. H. Royal,	5 00
J. E. Royal, (in material)	5 00
Stewart & Hines,	5 00

Now let the Agricultural Society meet immediately and take steps to hold another one of the Fairs for which Sampson was famous. Our Fairs were among the best in the best in the State, and such, and even better it can be again. Let everybody lend a helping hand and then a big and successful Fair will easily be the result.

Knights of Honor.

Just 16 years ago this month there was organized a fraternal association, in the city of Louisville, Ky., upon a plan that would combine the best features of the various societies already in operation, together with such additional features as would insure stability and growth so steady that ultimately there would be bound together a fraternity composed of the best element of almost every community of the whole country. This body is kaown as the "Knights of Honor" and today composes a membership of 128, 00, divided into 36 grand lodges with 2,500 subordinate lodges. The growth of this order has been phenominal and its charitable record is probably without a parallel. Its members have contributed to the sufferers in every great disaster from its organization down to the recent Johnstown horror. In addition it has paid during this time over $27,000,000 for death policies alone. This organization is neither a political nor a religious society, its membership is confined to no profession, business or occupation. Any white male between the ages of 18 and 50 is eligible to membership and can take any size policy he may elect from $2,000 down. The Clinton chapter of this order is in a flourishing condition and will convene next Friday night. Every member is requested to attend.

Personals.

Miss Rena Stewart is spending some time with friends at Elliott.

Mrs. Duncan Devane left Friday evening for her home in Winston.

Mr. L. H. Pierce of Winchester, Va., is in town visiting his sister Mrs. S. Barksdale.

Mr. Frank Royal left yesterday to resume his studies at Wake Forest College.

Mr. Graham Herring, of Wilmington is visiting his mother, Mrs. Caroline Herring.

Miss Anna Bizzell is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Dr. Newton Robinson, in Elizabethtown.

Miss Sallie Turnage who has been visiting at Mrs. Caroline Herrings, left Tuesday morning for her home in Kinston.

Lieut. Matt R. Peterson, who has been spending some time at Piedmont Springs in Surry county, returned 1st Saturday.

Mr. Henry Hines, of the firm of Stewart and Hines, has returned from an extended trip to Asheville, Waynesville, White Sulphur Springs and other points of interest in the western part of the State. He is much pleased and his health has been much improved by his delightful stay in the Mountains,

Attorney A. D. Ward of the firm of Allen and Ward, Kenansville, was in town last Thursday and Friday acting referee in the case of Ferrell vs Jones, having been appointed to act in that capacity at the last term of Sampson Superior court by his honor Judge Shipp. Mr. Ward is a brainy young lawyer and is sure to stand in the first rank in his profession.

The following gentlemen now compose the Board of Directors of the N. C. Insane Asylum:—Octavius Coke, of Wake, T. B. Womack, of Chatham, Dr. G. L. Kirby, of Wayne; Dr. McCormick, Dr. H. A. Foote, R. H. Smith, Capt. W. S. Harris, and J. D. Biggs, Mess. Coke Biggs, Womack, and Kirby fill the places of Drs. Haywood, Capehart Jackson, and Haigh, resigned.

COUNTY TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

It Closes After a Pleasant Session of five Days.

The Teachers' Institute which was in session at this place last week, under the management of Prof M. C. S. Noble of Wilmington and Co. Supt. Royal, closed last Friday at noon. During its session 101 names were enrolled, most of whom represented active teachers, and many attended regularly whose names were not enrolled.

On Wednesday night the Institute was addressed on the subject "Public Schools and Teachers," by Mr. E. W. Kerr. We have heard many compliments paid to Mr. Kerr' address. Rev. J. L. Stewart delivered a highly interesting and instructive lecture on Thursday morning. On Thursday night Rev. J. W. Turner was to deliver a lecture on Astronomy, but a heavy and continued down pour of rain prevented.

Friday till noon was taken up in lecturing on Arithmetic and Geography by Prof. Noble. Map drawing received special attention and some practical suggestions given as to how it should be taught to children.

The session of the Institute was a decided success and our teachers are fortunate in having secured the services of so live, practical and progressive an instructior as Prof. Noble. He simply charmed our teachers with his lectures on how to teach the little folks and it was regretted by them all that he could not continue the session of the Institute longer.

Clement Items.

The Principal of Clement Model School has purchased a small farm from Capt. J. L. Autry, which is located in 100 yards of the school building. The intention of the Principal is to add a model farm to the school. He will erect a neat and comfortable building this fall for the benefit of his family and boarders. Mr. W. H. Downing of Fayetteville visited the school last Monday and left his son, Mr. Empie and daughter Miss Tera for this term. The second week of the school opened with 57 pupils. There are 25 boarders in the school. The fourth teacher was selected this week and will be on hand at once to commence his labors.

Godwin Items.

Rev. J. J. Barker is conducting a series of meetings at Blacks Chapel this week.

The work on our Academy at this place will soon begin, and when completed we feel sure will add a great deal to the advancement of this section. C. A. J.

CLINTON, N. C.,—AUG. 22, 1889.

stand me.'

"'Sh! I thought I heard the rustle of her dress,' said the friend.

"Mr. West rose hastily from his chair and stepped to the door, which was shaded by heavy draperies. Some one had just passed from the next room into the hall, for the portiere was still swinging; but no one was to be seen.

"The members of the little circle soon came together again, and the evening was amost enjoyable one. Just before the family separated for the night, Mrs. Dallas asked for a moment's conversation with Mr. West. Her manner was some what constrained, and as they stood face to face by the window she grew very pale and trembled perceptibly.

"Fearing she had heard his words and had misconstrued or taken offense at them, he became almost as much agitated as his fair companion, and scarcely knew what to say. At length with an evident effort she broke the silence.

"You were saying—I heard you speak of a girl—at the Seminary.—Was she—'

"Oh, my love! and did you hear what I said? Did you hear all that I said? My darling, do you not know——'

"By this time Mrs. Dallas had in a measure recovered herself, and in a low voice said: 'Stop! You said you had loved her always—that you loved her now—that you would give all, all but your life for her. Who was she?'

"Indeed I do not know,' he said earnestly. 'I never could find out, although I tried faithfully, I admit that; but she is a memory, a shadow, an ideal. Can you not forgive me my words, when I tell you that no other love ever found a moment's place in my heart, only that little reminiscence, and that to day you are all the world to me?'

"Are you certain that this is so?' she asked, fixing her eyes steadily on his face.

"Absolutely certain, my own; how can I prove it to you?'

"By becoming the custodian of this little parcel, and of this;' and she laid her delicate hand, containing a tiny packet, in the one he had extended to her in appeal.

"He clasped the little hand in his own, and covered it with kisses. Then, wondering what the parcel could contain, he untied the ribbon that bound it, and carefully opened it. Folded within a sheet of note-paper, yellow and discolored with smoke and years, was a piece of court-plaster about the size and shape of a ten cent silver coin.

"And so you were really one of them,' he said, as he looked thoughtfully at the sheet of paper and its contents.

"Ye—yes,' she said slowly, 'I was one of them.'

"And did you ever know who the girl was, and why they all wore these?' he asked hurriedly his heart beating rapidly—he could not tell why.

"Oh, you stupid, stupid goose! Do you think any girl would keep a thing of that sort simply because the preceptress bade her wear it?'

"He clasped her in his arms, and murmured: 'God has been very good to me, my darling, better than I can ever deserve.

"Have you known all of the time?' he asked after a pause.

"No: I never suspected until I heard you tell Charlie; and I never could get the slightest clue, although I went down the corridor frequently, making excuses to find the girl who did the rooms. They were all so much alike; and I was so frightened that I did not take particular notice.'

"And have you always remembered me?' he asked.

"Remembered you!' she exclaimed; and with quivering lips and tearful eyes she whispered.' Have I remembered you? Why, my own, I have loved you always!"

NEW BARBER SHOP.
When you wish an easy shave,
As good as barber ever gave,
Just call on me at my saloon
At morning, eve or noon;
I cut and dress the hair with grace,
To suit the contour of the face.
My room is neat and towels clean,
Scissors sharp and razors keen.
And everything I think you'll find;
To suit the face and please the mind,
And all my art and skill can do
If you just call, I'll do for you.
